Through the factual information received during the course of monitoring conducted by the Commission in the districts of Parsa, Bara, Rautahat, Sarlahi, Mahottari, Dhanusha, Siraha, Saptari, Morang, sunsari and Banke in the Terai, it has been found that the human rights situation in these districts is severely worsening. The regular supplies of very much essential daily stuffs such as the cooking gas, petroleum products, food supplies as well as the medicines has been critically affected due to the prolonged Banda resulting in the violations of human rights of the general citizens. In this regard, the Commission has drawn the attention of the Government to the situation so as to immediately manage the effective supplies and also to adopt other necessary measures including the legal alternatives to implement as per necessity.

Due to the Banda, the free movement of the general public has been affected the obstruction is created in the buying and selling of the daily consumer products and their transportation. The students preparing for the SCL examination which is just around the corner have been deprived of their rights to education due the indefinite closure of the educational institutions. Likewise, consequently, the daily life of the general public in the Terai as well as the capital including the various other parts of the country is becoming pathetic day by day due to the Banda. The Commission, therefore, issued the directives to the concerned authorities of the Government to immediately take up the necessary steps in order to protect the fundamental rights of the common citizens.
